Subacute Care

Morgan Health Center is the transitional step between hospital and home for hundreds of Rhode Islanders each year. Our specially trained staff is experienced in treating patients with acute or chronic illness, neurological disorders, orthopedic problems or terminal illness. We also offer respite care.

Our subacute care unit provides the advanced medical services necessary to obtain maximum recovery following an accident or illness. Our medical director works alongside physicians, nurses, therapists, social workers, dietitians, activities personnel, restorative aides and family members to direct a program geared toward timely recuperation and rehabilitation.

We believe that comfort is key to recovery. All rooms in our subacute unit are outfitted with electric beds, telephones, cable TV and air-conditioning. Each room is elegantly appointed and visitors are always welcome.

Long Term Care

We understand the concerns families often have when transitioning a loved one to a skilled long term care setting, so we do everything possible to seek their participation in enhancing their loved one's quality of life, while developing an individualized care plan with the input of physicians and our professional staff. We also provide all of the amenities one could ask for: rooms complete with televisions, stereos, games and cozy furniture; dining services that welcome guests; and a full activities calendar sure to keep every resident active and engaged.

Care for the Memory Impaired

If someone you care about has Alzheimer's Disease or related dementia, Morgan Health Center can provide the care they need in a safe and supportive environment. Our 40-bed dementia wing provides secure accommodations along with recreational programs tailored to each person's needs and abilities. Our staff is available 24 hours a day to address not only our residents' needs, but their family's as well.

Services, Social Life, Surroundings

At Morgan Health Center, we know that emotional and social fulfillment is an important part of good health. That's why we do everything possible to make each resident feel at home and give them ample opportunity to maintain an active social life. In addition to spacious rooms for socializing, Morgan Health Center also offers delicious, nutritionally-based meals, age appropriate activities, and even an on-site beauty salon.
